

Ducati Panigale 1199R

Ducati Panigale 1199R (2013) – Race Engineering Meets Italian Art

The 1199R is not just another superbike – it's Ducati's engineering masterpiece, developed with MotoGP DNA and designed for the most demanding riders. This example, originally delivered in Germany to a Ducati collector and now located in Poland, has only 10,347 km and has never seen a racetrack.

Equipped with Öhlins electronic suspension, forged aluminum wheels, and a full Termignoni titanium exhaust system, this Panigale pushes out 205 hp. Every component has been carefully selected or upgraded: carbon parts throughout, Ducati Performance rearsets, racing map installed, and ceramic coating applied for preservation. This bike is in pristine condition, meticulously maintained and fully documented. It comes with manuals, service book, keys, and tuning files.

Whether you're a collector or an enthusiast looking for the ultimate ride, this 1199R is pure, raw Italian adrenaline.
