Honda CBX 1000

Some motorcycles don't need explaining – you feel them. This 1981 Honda CBX 1000 Z is exactly that. Finished in classic silver, equipped with Dutch registration papers and powered by Honda's legendary six-cylinder four-stroke engine, this CBX represents engineering ambition at its finest. Developed in the late seventies, the CBX was Honda's way of pushing boundaries. The transversely mounted inline-six is air-cooled, incredibly smooth and delivers a soundtrack that sends shivers down your spine. Despite its impressive presence, the CBX feels refined and balanced, showcasing true Honda craftsmanship.

With its honest mileage and authentic appearance, this is not a polished museum piece but a genuine rider's CBX full of character and history. A motorcycle for those who value emotion, engineering and timeless appeal. This is more than ownership – it's a statement.
