

Kawasaki ZL900 Eliminator

Kawasaki ZL900 Eliminator

A true power cruiser from the golden age of muscle bikes: this 1985 Kawasaki ZL900 Eliminator is bold, raw, and ready to rumble. Based on the legendary GPZ900R engine, this factory drag-style machine was Kawasaki's answer to the American cruiser craze — but with a Japanese performance twist. With 20,529 original miles on the clock and a deep black finish, this Eliminator stands as a beautifully preserved example of 80s engineering with attitude. The shaft drive, wide stance, and low-slung design give it unmistakable character, while the inline-four engine delivers the thrilling acceleration that earned it cult status. Registered in the Netherlands and well-maintained, this ZL900 is ready to be ridden or collected.
